

Words from patient, Angela F.

Testimonials help me to make decisions based on real peoples experience. It gives insight to situations that I am new to and the variety of ways to deal with the many injuries to be healed.

Testimonials are important because it gives a chance for patients to talk about that experience, their progress and to 'boast' about how great they feel. Testimonials are a way for patients to to tell about themselves. It is part of their freedom of speech, it is our democratic right.
