

Words from patient, Vlad A.

Testimonials help me because i'm able to relate to situations that others are facing. They help in understanding possible outcomes and personal journeys.

Testimonials are important because it raises awareness of causes that may be a factor in their own cases. People put faith in what others have to say and what they have been through. Testimonials can alert people to their own situations helping them make a more informed choice.